Training Camps

If anyone doubts the popularity of the boxing game in this city a trip out to Fort Shafter, where the champion, Dick Sullivan, is training, would quickly remove any such impression.

The big crowd that visits the gymnasium daily is always rewarded by seeing some fine, lively scrapping that makes the fans come to their feet in delight. Yesterday afternoon the usual crowd rolled up to watch the middleweight at work, and as Dick took on no less than three men for two rounds each, and was not sparing in his hand outs of stoush, things were very willing for a while.

The first man to face Sullivan was our old Marathon friend, Dal Fahy, and as soon as the word "Time" was uttered the festive Dal proceeded to work with a rush, and passed out the wallop in great style. Sullivan let Fahy hit away for a while and then suddenly started tapping the long one on the snapper.

Fahy did his best with the pillow cases, but, notwithstanding the fierce expression he assumed as he tried to land on the champion, he did no damage during the time he was on the floor.

As soon as Fahy had retired from active participation in the glove act, Miller, the husky dough puncher from the Fort, put on the mitts with Sullivan. This Miller is a wonder. If all accounts are true he never had a pair of gloves on until a week or so ago, and yet he shaped up in style to Sullivan and made a very good impression with the fans. Miller is a husky looking fellow and can land a punch with the best of them when there is an opening.

He and Sullivan went two rounds, and the champion gave the soldier plenty of tips as to the fight game as the two sparred around the ring. Of course Sullivan never let loose a real solid punch, but one caress that he administered to Miller's kau kau department made the soup juggler squirm.

However, Miller is the makings of a real good man at the fight game, and it is to be hoped that he may get an opportunity before long to show the public what he can do in the roped arena.

After allowing Miller to retire Sullivan took on Fulton, a tall, loosely built young fellow, who has a bad habit of boxing with his mouth wide open.

Fulton was determined to get in at least one punch on the fight game, and as soon as the men shook hands lashed out and landed on Dick's head. The champion looked surprised, in fact almost pained, and quickly shifting his feet, slapped a rip snorter into Fulton's wind that doubled that gentle pug up like a jack-knife. "Wow!" he grunted. "Not so hard, Dick, old man; you'll spoil my bellows, sure."

After encountering Richard's wicked left, Fulton closed with him and hung on most affectionately. The soldier certainly seemed very fond of Dick, and the latter would lean down, and, winding his arm around the body of his sparring partner, whack him on the nose or any other place he imagined he had overlooked before.

Fulton, however, was game, and used to stand up as well as he could to that rapid and deadly left of Dick's. Sullivan seldom uses his sleep-producing right in training, at least not on his sparring partners, and it is well that it is so, for there is a lot of weight behind that fist, and the man who gets it properly is not going to worry about things in general for at least a minute or two after connecting with it.

Sullivan looks in the pink of condition and is already down to 160 pounds. His skin shines like satin, and his eye is as clear as a babe's; he will take off another pound or two during the coming week and should step into the ring on July 3 in the very best possible condition.

After boxing with the three men yesterday Sullivan skipped, shadow sparred and played with the medicine ball for a while. Heine is attending to Sullivan's rubbing down, etc., and is getting in some fine work.

There can be no complaint on the score of condition when Sullivan and Cordell step into the ring, as both men are ready to scrap for a kingdom.

Japanese Tars
To See Ball
Game

On Sunday next there will be two games of baseball in honor of the visiting Japanese men-of-war, and all the arrangements have been left to Ed Townsend, who has asked several teams to take part in the games.

It is pretty well assured that the Asahis will go up against the C. A. C. and the Marines will have a go with the J. A. C. These two games should provide a fine afternoon's sport and will no doubt entertain the Japanese sailors immensely.

The visitors will be interested in watching their countrymen, as represented by the J. A. C., trying conclusions on the diamond with the Chinese bunch, and no doubt the skill that has been attained in the American national game will astonish the sons of Nippon.

The games, which will be played on the league grounds, should attract a big crowd. There will be no charge for admission, and all parts of the grounds will be free to spectators.

Townsend is working hard to make the afternoon a success, and there is no doubt that everyone will enjoy themselves out at the ground on Sunday. The first game will start at 1:30 o'clock and the second one at 3:30, and by that time there should be a huge crowd of people present to cheer on their teams to victory.

The Japanese community is taking up the idea in an enthusiastic manner, and there will be much Banzais and other tokens of delight in evidence for sure.

CORDILL BOXED WITH FIVE DIFFERENT MEN.

Jack Cordell had a strenuous afternoon's boxing at the Marine Camp yesterday. He took on no less than five men for two rounds each and kept them all going too.

Nelson, who is well known to the fight fans of this city, went a couple of rounds with the middleweight and showed some of the form that has made him a victor in every bout he has had so far.

Another bruiser named Hall also had a go with Cordell and shaped up fairly well considering the limited amount of practice he has had. He was willing enough and Jack got some good exercise through him.

Sarconi also was on deck, and to the great delight of the half-wets rolled into Cordell in his most willing style. This boy is smart and knows a good deal of the fight game. He should be given a trial in public again soon.

Cordell is in fine condition now and just tips the beam at 160 pounds. He is training strictly for the scrap, and may be relied upon to put up a great fight. Instead of running on the roads Jack is at present going in for swimming a lot and reckons that that exercise is just what he wants in this climate.

This afternoon Cordell will work out at the Orpheum, where there is sure to be a big crowd of sports present to watch the boxing and other stunts.

RACE FOR BECKLEY
CUP ON SUNDAY.

The race for the Beckley Cup will be sailed for on Sunday next and will be over the regular course. The handicaps will be the same as for the Irwin cup race and the distance is almost the same.

The race will start at 10 o'clock, from the spar buoy, and from there the boats will sail to a stakeout off Diamond Head, leaving this to port. From Diamond Head they will sail to a mark off Ewa mill, leaving this to starboard; thence to the bell buoy which is left to port, and so to the finishing line, which is crossed in the opposite direction to that in which the start is made.

A time limit of seven hours has been set for the race, and it is expected that it will be all over by 3 o'clock.

The handicaps for the race are as follows: - Kanehameha, scratch; Charlotte C., 27 minutes; Gladys, 35 minutes; Kapolei, Hawaii 1 and Helene, 55 minutes each.

The Hawaii II will not enter the race, but will follow the yachts over the course. The racers will be in full view for the most of the time and a very pretty sight they should present as they pass Waikiki.

SOCCER PRACTICE AT MAKIKI THIS AFTERNOON.

There will be a soccer football practice this afternoon and all players of the game are requested to turn out at Makiki about 4:30 o'clock.

The game is booming now and every practice day there are more men turning out for a kick. It is expected that a large number of soccer men will roll up today, and it is hoped that the form shown will be so good that the match against Hilo will look a certainty for the local men.

We have one leg in for the beautiful cup, and it is up to our soccer players to make a great effort to capture the trophy for the second and last time on July 5.

GUN CLUB SHOOT
WON BY HARVEY.

The prize shoot of the Hawaiian Gun Club, which was held yesterday afternoon, resulted in a win for J. W. Harvey, who accounted for no less than 19 birds out of 20. The runner-up was E. I. Spalding, who got away with 19 out of 24.

In the shoot-off Harvey grassed 8 out of 10 and won from Spalding, who takes the second prize. The shooting all round was good and there was very little use made of the second barrel. Harvey is shooting in tip-top form now and hardly seems able to miss a bird; his 20 straight last week and now 19 out of 20, puts him in a class by himself.

Contrary to expectations the Leggett trap was not on board the Lurline, but it is thought to be on the China, which arrived this morning from the coast.

This new trap will take a lot of practice out of the shooters before they get accustomed to the way the birds are thrown out and it is said that the unknown angles are the real thing and no mistake.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

Forty years ago almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody, without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrup," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

The signature of Dr. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria. Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results."
W. A. CRANDALL, M. D.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every case. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."
Wm. J. McCRACKEN, M. D.,
Omaha, Neb.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments."
F. Davis, M. D.,
Chicago, Ill.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."
